

Where In The World

The Devi Art Foundation's second exhibition, slated to open 12th December 2008, will examine the impact of globalization and economic liberalization on contemporary art in India. 'Opening out' to the world has brought a range of new influences, opportunities, audiences, forms of circulation and means of production to Indian art in the last ten or fifteen years. What does the new Indian art look like? Whom does it address? And how will we remember this era in the future? These are some of the key questions that this exhibition addresses through its four sections. The first section, 'Export,' traces the strategies used by artists asked to enact 'Indian-ness' in their work. The following sections, 'Outraged' and 'Outrageous,' examine the ways in which artists engage with issues and the larger public beyond the artworld. And finally, 'Uncollectable' considers the movements of objects through markets and into collections.

The exhibition includes works by A Balasubramaniam, Atul Bhalla, C. Nannaiah, Sheba Chhachhi, Krishnaraj Chonat, Nikhil Chopra, Atul Dodiya, Anita Dube, Nicola Durvasula, Sheela Gowda, Probir Gupta, Shilpa Gupta, Subodh Gupta, Sonia Jabbar, Bharti Kher, Sonia Khurana, Susanta Mandal, N. Pushpamala, Jeetander Ojha, Jagannath Panda, Srinivasa Prasad, Ashim Purkayastha, Gigi Scaria, Mithu Sen, Tejal Shah, Sudarshan Shetty, T.V.Santhosh, and Navin Thomas.

The exhibition has been curated by a team of faculty and students from the School of Arts and Aesthetics, Jawaharlal Nehru University as part of the School's first offering of a course on curating. The student team includes Edward Anderson, Seher Agarwala, Neha Berlia, Rajashree Biswal, Ayeeta Biswas, Ambar Sahil Chatterjee, Rahul Dev, Dipa Donde, Natasha Ginwala, Vartikka Kaul, Nidhi Khurana, Premjish Nil, Eesha Phanse, Mohd.
